

Lee Wetherington

Speaker Biography

Lee Wetherington is Senior Director of Corporate Strategy at Jack Henry & Associates® (JKHY: NASDAQ). Lee directs the development of actionable insights, forecasts and strategy for Jack Henry and the financial services industry at large. To this end, he guides a team of analysts who track the trends and implications of emerging tech disrupting and transforming the financial services industry. Lee delivers keynotes nationwide focusing upon opportunities and challenges in fintech, payments and digital banking, and he is widely renowned for his unique style of delivery.

Lee has delivered over 600 keynotes for state, national, and international trade groups, including Finovate, FinXTech, the Credit Union National Association (CUNA), Credit Union Executive Society (CUES), World Council of Credit Unions (WOCCU), National Association of Federal Credit Unions (NAFCU), American Institute of CPAs (AICPA), Credit Union Webinar Network (CUWN), and the credit union leagues of Texas, Michigan, Maine, and Wisconsin among others. He has also served as the Technology Faculty Chair for the Southwest CUNA Management School and delivered guest lectures on leadership and technology at universities across the United States. He was named “Strategic Alliance Executive of the Year” at the Golden Bridge Awards, which recognizes the world’s top executives across every major industry globally. Lee’s articles and commentary have been published widely across the financial services industry, and he’s a popular guest on fintech podcasts.

Lee received bachelor’s degrees in Economics and English from Duke University in 1990, and, in 1993, he completed graduate studies at Emory University before joining a fintech born out of the backroom of a community financial institution in deep South Georgia.

